false, and nonresponsive, and evasive. The Maxim of Law is "The faculty or right of offering proof is not to be narrowed."

- 2. Whereas,
- 3. The Prosecutor has obscured government's lack of response by answering multiple, and different, documents in the same response, which helps to obscure the fact that government is not answering critical issues brought out by defendant.
- 4. The government with intent is misconstruing the motion for a more definite statement into one that it says it does not have to answer in an evasive refusal to answer the question/request for a more definite statement. There is nothing that permits the government to in effect rewrite defendant's motions into whatever government wants it to be so government can answer the motion at the convenience of government. This type of activity boarders on the absurd; and with actions like this occurring in our courts by a government prosecutor, as the Supreme Court has said:
 - a. "We may some day be presented with a situation in which the conduct of law enforcement agents is so outrageous that due process principles would absolutely bar the government from invoking judicial processes to obtain a conviction...." US V. RUSSELL, 411 US 423 (431-432), 38 LE2d2 366, 93 SCt 1637 (1973)
- 5. The prosecutor is engaging in activities irrelevant and impertinent and actions on the part of the prosecutor in going on with a nonresponsive answer for pages addressing an issue surrounding "bill of particulars" and answering something never asked or requested and hoping no one would notice is outrageous behavior on the part of a prosecutor and such misconduct should be addressed with appropriate sanctions against it by the Court.
- 6. The need to do this, and answer a question never asked, and evade answering the motion for a more definite statement demonstrates the prosecutor's intent to conceal, suppress and keep evidence, exculpatory evidence, from defendant.

- a. A defendant's right to due process is violated when, upon a request for exculpatory evidence, the government conceals evidence that is both favorable to the defendant and material to the defendant's guilt or innocence and punishment. HUGHES V. JOHNSON, 191 F3d 607 (5th Cir. 1999).
- b. Prosecutor's suppression of evidence which would tend to exculpate defendant or reduce sentence violates due process. US V. WILLIAMS, 998 F2d 258 (5th Cir. 1993).
- 7. This activity is giving a false impression that the government is addressing the defendants issues, and is unbefitting to a government response. It is acting in bad faith and failing to disclose what is required to be disclosed in good faith. This action brings false representation to the government's answer and infects and taints the whole of this government answer.
 - a. "Suppression of a material fact which a party is bound in good faith to disclose is equivalent to a false representation." Leigh v. Loyd, 224 P.2d 356, 74 Ariz. 84 (1952).
 - b. "When one conveys a false impression by disclosure of some facts and the concealment of others, such concealment is in effect a false representation that what is disclosed is the whole truth." State v. Coddington, 662 P.2d 155, 135 Ariz. 480 (Ariz. App. 1983).
- 8. The Maxim of Law is,
 - a. False in one (particular), false in all.
 - b. Deliberate falsehood in one matter will be imputed to related matters.
- 9. Whereas further, in addressing with one mere document the points and objections defendant puts in several separate documents, that should be responded to with separate documents, point for point, the government fails to address many issues defendant introduces, and that demand an answer. Some notable examples are:

- 10. In addressing Point Nine of the "Notice of Unconstitutional Practices and Unconstitutional Conditions and Plain Errors and Brief Memorandum of Law -Written Objections and Demand for Relief - Offer of Proof for the Record" the government in its answer only addresses one element of the Point that the Indictment is Defective.
- 11. The government fails in whole to address the element of the government prosecuting the defendant for the claim and exercise of a constitutional recognized First Amendment right to free speech through postal matter; and if the defendant had no right to send then the government had no right to receive in silence, and government would be guilty of what defendant is accused of also, for the government not giving defendant any due process warning his intended actions are prohibited.
 - a. The First amendment trumps the democratic process and protects the individual's rights even when a majority of citizens want to infringe upon them (Republic process). SOUTHWORTH V. GREBE, 151 F3d 717 (7th Cir. 1998).
- 12. Further, for Point Nine government fails to address the element that "Benefits Negate Injury," and the defendant was and intended to provide a benefit to the receivers of the postal matter which is evident from the face of the documents and the facts that benefits were being provided by intent defeats any claim of intent to injure or harm on the part of defendant which is an essential element of any claim of scheme in the charge of Mail Fraud.
- 13. Further, for Point One government alleges that the defendant states no facts; this is untrue and amount to the prosecutor parroting rope words meant for situations where there is substance behind the allegations, but here he is the one that offers no substance for his claims. The facts are clear, present and indisputable that the judge is acting as a judge in his own cause under the circumstances of this trial; the Maxim of law is "When the proofs of facts are present, what need is there of words."

- 14. No matter how you sugar coat it, or dress it up, or disguise it the facts are the facts, the principles of law are the principles; the representative is in the place of the principal and represents the cause and interests of the principal and, therefore, the judge representing a principal of the action is a judge in his own cause.
- 15. There is not debating principles; the Maxim of law is, "Principles prove, they are not proved;" and "There is no reasoning of principles." The prosecutor knows it would be an absurd and useless discussion for the defendant to have to debate the principles of the principal/agent, principal/representative relationship, with him, the prosecutor, denying the principles, so he evades the principles; the Maxim of Law is, "There is no disputing against a man denying principles."
- 16. Further, the government, again in an evasive manner, dismissed Points Two and Five by the allegation that they are without merit because their basis is in Point One which point government alleges is without merit, in plain error. The prosecutor is evading addressing the apparent plain errors and unconstitutional practices Points Two and Five bring-forth which makes it clear that the prosecutor is without a challenge to these claims except by underhanded and elusive ways and means.
- 17. {I}f it please the Court, the Court will now turn its attention to the Judicial Notice portion of this document.

Judicial Notice

18. The Court shall Take Notice of the truth of the following facts by and in definitions, and the like, that have a bearing on this controversy and from their nature are not properly the subject of testimony, but are universally regarded as established by common notoriety of the definitions and principles of law.

- 19. Whereas,
- 20. This is the Definition of "Agency":
- 21. Agency. A relationship between two persons, by agreement or otherwise, where on (the agent) may act on behalf of the other (the principal) and bind the principal by words and actions. Relation in which one person acts for or represents another by latter's authority, either in the relationship of principal and agent, master and servant, or employer or proprietor and independent contractor..." (Black's Law Dictionary West Publishing Company, 1990; 6th Edition, page 62).
- 22. This is the Definition of "Agent":
- 23. "Agent. A person authorized by another (principal) to act for or in place of him; one instructed with another's business. Humphries v. Going, D.C.N.C., 59 F.R.D. 583, 587. One who represents and acts for another under the contract or relation of agency (q.v.). A business representative, whose function is to bring about, modify, affect, accept performance of, or terminate contractual obligations between principal and third persons. One who undertakes to transact some business, or to manage some affair, for another, by the authority and on account of the latter, and to render an account of it. One who acts for or in place of another by authority from him; a substitute, a deputy, appointed by principal with power to do the things which principal may do. One who deals not only with things, as does a servant, but with persons, using his own discretion as to means, and frequently establishing contractual relations between his principal and third persons.
- 24. One authorized to transact all business of principal, or all of principal's business of some particular kind, or all business at some particular place. Farm Bureau Mut. Ins. Co. v. A person or thing that represents, or stands for, a number or class of persons or things, or that in some way corresponds to, stands for, replaces, or is equivalent to, another person or thing... "Representative" includes an agent, an officer of a corporation or association, and a trustee, executor or administrator of an estate, or any other person empowered to act for another. U.C.C Sec. 1-201(35)." (Black's Law Dictionary West Publishing Company, 1990; 6th Edition, page 1302)

- 28. This is the Definition of "Pecuniary Interest":
- 29. "Pecuniary Interest. A direct interest related to money in an action or case as would, for example, require a judge to disqualify himself from sitting on a case if he owned stock in a corporate party." (Black's Law Dictionary West Publishing Company, 1990; 6th Edition, page 1131)
- 30. This is the Definition of "United States":
- 31. Title 28, § 3002. Definitions:

established by operation of law, per the U.S. Government Printing Office Style Manual (2008), 30th Edition - Chapter 9. And as a result, by definition of "United States," it ("UNITED STATES OF AMERICA") is "an agency ... or other entity of the United States" and, hence, it is "equivalent to" the principal in this matter, "United States," whom the judge is an "Agent" and "Representative" of, and works for, and is paid money by, and is acting on behalf of, giving the judge a "Pecuniary Interest" in this matter in favor of his principal the United States, also known as. "UNITED STATES OF AMERICA."

Demand for Relief Sought

Therefore, I move the court by demand to strike the "Government's Response to Defendant's Motions Filed September 10, 2010." on the grounds it is impertinent, false, nonresponsive, and evasive, and I move the Court for appropriate sanctions against prosecutor for such activity, and moves the court to dismiss this matter per previous requests and demand by defendant, and for such and other relief the court may deem just and proper.
